Latex statement

To whom it may concern:

This letter confirms that PDG Mobility does not use Latex or Latex-containing products in the manufacturing of its wheelchairs at PDG's factory.

While none of the specifications of our materials and components call for / include Latex, we cannot completely rule out that our suppliers and sub-suppliers may use or have Latex-containing products present at their factories or warehouses at some point of their manufacturing process.

Please do not hesitate to contact me directly if you require further information.

Best regards,
